Georgia's state capitol yesterday pre ented a sharp contrast to scenes transpiring under its dome for the previous 69 days, when legislators wrestled with appropriations and revenue problems, looking to perfection of Governor Rivers' $88,000,000 program for the next two years.

As regular capitol officials resumed the even tenor of their respective ways, house clerks and senate secretaries busied themselves with the task of engrossing bills passed by both houses for transmittal to the Governor. A few senators and representatives wandered in and out of the building during the day, all of them with evidences of the post-session letdown on their faces.

Affects Other Strikes.

From the anticipated agreement was expected to emerge a pattern for settlement of other current strikes, particularly the Hudson strike at Detroit and the Reo Motor Company dispute here.

Two brief meetings Wednesday, at Murphy's invitation, produced a truce under which more than 6,000 sit-down strikers defying orders of a Detroit court, abandoned their positions in eight Chrysler plants.

The U. A. W. A., claiming 59,000 members in Chrysler plants, called the strike when corporation executives refused its demand for recognition as sole bargaining agency for all workers. Settlement of this dispute, with a provision for return to work pending adjustment of other demands relating to seniority, wages and working conditions, would start production wheels moving again in ten Chrysler plants, eight of them evacuated by strikers in Detroit Thursday.

In addition to the more than 60,000 Chrysler employes such an arrangement would return to their jobs about 19,400 Briggs Manufacturing Company workers, making bodies for Chrysler cars, would end a period of enforced idleness.

Governor Murphy has conferred with officials of the Hudson Motor Car Company at Detroit, whose more than 10,000 workers are idle because of a sit-down strike, and one of the Reo Company at Lansing, where a similar

CRASH OF BIG AIR LINER WHICH TOOK 13 LIVES LAID TO ICE FORMATION

New Measures Will Be Developed To Prevent Repetition of Tragedy.

PITTSBURGH, March 26 .- (AP)-Iwo separate investigations today attributed the crash of the transcontinental and western airlines plane in which 13 persons were killed to the formation of ice on the air liner's control equipment.

While federal and state aeronautical inspectors searched through the splintered wreckage of the giant twinmotored transport that nosed into a corn field last night, officials of TWA said ice had formed on the ailerons and sent the plane out of control.

Dr. John J. McLean, director of the Alleghany County airport, where the plane had attempted to land a few moments before the crash, said the disaster was caused by ice collecting on the wings.

To illustrate his point, Milton referred to the ancient church which held usury as one of the seven deadly sins and that to charge interest on a loan was committing usury. "Had this law of the church remained an unimpaired rule of Christian conduct, where would you bankers be?"

The War Between the States need never have been fought, the editor declared. "Bankers in the United States in the past 25 years have spent thousands of dollars to tell the farmer how to manage his farm, to tell the cattle-raiser what kind of cattle he should encourage, to help the fruitgrower to develop that kind of fruit tree that is profitable, yet at the same time, the banks of this country have been saying by their actions that they themselves know very little shout their grower to develop that kind of fruit tree that is profitable, yet at the same time, the banks of this country have been saying by their actions that they themselves know very little about their own business, and did not know how to manage their own business in such a way that it would be run safely and profitably," Penwick declared.

The life of the banking industry, depends upon the ability of bankers to discover its costs and to place them as charges against the proper transactions, Penwick said.

Tom K. Smith, of St. Louis, president of the association, addressing the regional conference yesterday afternoon, termed the modern banker more openminded than his predecessor. His address was based on a study of banking methods.

ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

FOR ADMINISTRATION WHITEHEAD FUND

Foundation Operation Expected To Get Under Way in Late Fall.

Formal organization of the Joseph B Whitehead Foundation, through which approximately $500,000 will be distributed annually to the charity institutions of Atlanta and Georgia, was under way yesterday with the filing of an application for charter in Fulton superior court.

of an application for charter in Fulton superior court.

The petition was signed by Judge E. D. Thomas and under it the charter will become effective in 30 days.

Attorneys for the foundation announced last night that while the charter petition has been filed no actual plans for operation of the foundation have been approved and that no money will be available until late fall or the first of next year.

Arrangements Incomplete.

The foundation, being established under provisions of the will of the late Joseph B. Whitehead, Atlanta capitalist, will begin operation as soon as income and other tax settlements are made. A settlement must also be made with Whitehead's widow, who under court order is to receive $500,000 cash plus $200,000 provided her under a previous settlement with the for charity. Interest from this sum will be distributed to charities by the board of trustees of the foundation.

Trustees named in the charter petition are Mrs. Lettie P. Evans, mother of the deceased; Conkey P. Whitehead, his brother; and F. P. Calhoun. They will control all money distributions. In case of death or resignation of a trustee, the others will fill the vacancy, but should they fail to act the senior judge in Fulton superior court will appoint a trustee.

Charter Petitions.

The petition for charter was filed by Mrs. Evans, Whitehead and L. H. Parris, vice president and trust officer of the Citizens & Southern National Bank, executors of the will; and Samuel L. Jones, friend of Whitehead, who will serve as secretary at a minimum salary of $5,000 under terms of the will.

Discretion was left to the trustees as to dispensing the funds to orphans

Discretion was left to the trustees as to dispensing the funds to orphans' homes, hospitals, or schools without regard to race or creed, but the will says Whitehead was "much impressed" with the Baptist Orphans Home at Hapeville; the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children and the Georgia Baptist hospital.

Burns, 55-year-old Pachuta officer, was called here at reports that Otis Sime, 24, was threatening to shoot negro residents last night. When the constable attempted to arrest Sims, the latter opened fire.

Sims fled immediately. A posse was formed quickly and bloodhounds were brought out. The dogs trailed the negro five miles across the county line to Vossburg, where the scent was lost at a railway station. Officers believed the negro hopped on a freight train, as it slowed up.

Girl Informs Judge That Parent Told Her His Job Was at Stake.

BRADENTON, Fla., March 26.—
(P)—County Judge Murphy said today a 12-year-old girl told him her father forced her into marriage last week with a man 45 years her senior.

Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel E. North, the child's parents, appeared before Judge Murphy today asking a warrant for their older daughter, charging kidnaping.

their older daughter, charging kidnaping.

The judge, reporting he had talked to the child and her sister last midnight, declined to issue the warrant on the grounds Martha Nell had left her husband and parents voluntarily.

The parents, who witnessed the wedding ceremony, told Judge Murphy they wanted to let the marriage stand.

Chandler L. Revell, 57-year-old crate mill foreman and a grandfather, would not comment on the effort to separate him from his child bride.

Judge Murphy said Martha Nell, sixth grade student in the Manatee school, told him: "I will not go back, even if I have to run away."

The girl told him, Murphy said, that her father advised her nearly two weeks ago be had arranged the marriage and wanted her to go through with the ceremony because his job was at stake and because of favors extended by Revell.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—An object is lost when it is not in its place. There are in this world quite a few things not in their places. Fortunately, we read often in the newspapers about objects found. Those objects can at least find their way back to their rightful place. Lost is also a person when he is not in his or her place. There are quite a few persons not in when he is not in his or her place. There are quite a few persons not in their place in this world. But we never read in the advertising columns about found human beings.

And yet there is a search going on all the time for lost human beings. The difficulty is that a lot of persons don't even know that they are lost or that they are on the way of losing themselves. This is because they do not know their place. One of the first questions a person should ask himself is; What is my place? Where do I have to take up my position? We cannot simply go out and conquer ourselves a place. To conquer a place is after all conquering, and that is not the first essential. The first essential is to find out: What place is fitted for me; to which place am I indicated?

That is evident from the question he asked Jesus: "Good Master," he asked, "what good things must I do in order to gain eternal life?" That young man, with all his privileges, was convinced that he was not yet leading the good life. He was not really in his place. He felt lost.

I believe that there are a great many people who are estranged from God, but also many who have cooled off in their relationship to God. Very many in fact simply have ceased "to bother" about God and their place near bother" about God and their place near Him. They are not atheists or mock-ers. They simply don't care about that supreme spiritual relationship. It leaves them cold. They are just as much out of place, that is to say lost, as those who have rebelled. CRISES-MAKERS WASHINGTON, March 26.—Military staffs around the world are beginning to suspect that Mussolini and Hitler talk a much better war game than they play. Together, they have not even been able to oust the Communists in Spain.

The serious failure of their equipment and men around Madrid has delayed the inevitable European war for a year and possibly for two.

This expression was for a year and possibly for two.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON.

This, at any rate, is what the best-informed military men here read between the lines of the recent European dispatches telling of General Franco's minor losses, of Mussolini again pulling hair from his chest, of the British press again boldly baiting Italy, of the trouble at the Spanish in all saloons, who leans to the bar neutrality conference, etc.

It may not explain everything, but it discloses much of the back-ground of new weakness in the bite of the world's two loudest barkers.

FAILURE German soldiers, and particularly German military planes, have fallen down too often in Spain for their deficiencies to be concealed from practiced military eyes. The planes have proved to be slower than anticipated in actual war conditions. They are not only heavy but lack sufficient maneuverability.

Soviet fliers on the other side have flown rings around the Germans.

Their only trouble is that there are too few of them. The Germans have decided to redesign both planes and engines. That is probably a two-year program. It seems to practical military men that Hitler will hardly choose to take on Russia until the program is com-

FRICTION The excuse for German and Italian man-failure may be less serious. Those noncombatants who have checked the situation closely believe that neither the Italians nor the Germans at the Spanish front have much heart for their business.

Friction has developed. General Franco's Moors despise native Spaniards, the Italians do not like the Spaniards and seems to be only casually friendly with the Germans, ditto for the Germans regarding the Italians and Spaniards.

Both the Germans and Italians have their own company and line officers, but the higher commands are all held by Spaniards of Franco's choosing. The Germans and Italians have little confidence in the ability of these Spanish officers.

DANGER All this does not necessarily mean Franco is doomed to failure, but his present position is threatening. The defeats he suffered around Madrid are not particularly important. This lost ground may be recovered. But behind him are 120 sizable towns and cities which he is holding with only a nominal garrison in each place. Garrison duty sapped 50 per cent from the strength of the original army which he put before Madrid. (He had about 35,000 for the initial attack.) Since then he has been reinforced by Germans and Italians, whose numbers can only be guessed, but are expertly guessed between 50,000 and 70,000. If you bgin to hear of uprisings against Franco in garrisoned towns, it will be time to sell him short quickly.

POSES The most recent flare-up between Mussolini and Britain grew out of a slightly different phase of this background. Mussolini started it in his recent swing through Italy's Mohammedan holdings, by posing as the Great White Papa of Islam.

As every Britisher knows, John Bull has a copyright on that pose in his vast Mohammedan colonies, possessions and mandates. He has always been touchy about anyone else stepping into the family. No official here will care to comment publicly, but they all suspect the anti-Italian attacks in the British press had an official flavor. The foreign office has a way of letting the press perform diplomatic missions which cannot be undertaken officially and openly. Mussolini apparently believed likewise, judging from the heat of his response.

Now British officialdom is trying to get the press to soft-pedal the situation and will succeed to whatever extent is desired.

PLANNING The State Department seems never to have heard of neutrality legislation. Officials are saying nothing publicly, and all they will say privately is that the subject is involved in too delicate a debate between the house and senate for them to protrude

On the inside, they seem to be lending a hand, or at least a couple of fingers, in behalf of the house bill, which gives considerable executive leway.

That bill will apparntly interfere least with their trade treaty policy. They assert that they expect the trade treaty policy to survive. Their story is that most of the countries with which trade treaties are being negotiated are more interested in getting their exports into the United States than in obtaining exports from us. (A notable exception is Britain.)

The neutrality legislation is calculated to affect only our exports directly.

Every trade treaty of the future, however, will certainly carry an escape clause which will make it subject to cancellation by the neutrality policy in war times. (Copyright, 1937, by Paul Mallon.)

There is not much doubt that he will fight if crossed, because he is fighting drunk and spoiling for a scrap in which he might be pretty difficult, because he is utterly reckless in his condition.

Nobody with any sense wants to provoke him, for the best possible result would be a little personal satisfaction, which would by no means compensate the wear and tear on the challenger's clothes and features, in addition to which most men of mature years avoid fighting until they are driven to it. Some can be driven to it by persistent harassment, but others will endure almost anything short of a personal attack.

This feeds his self-appreciation, and he pops his eyes at his image in the mirror and roars on about politics, sport, women or any subject that flashes through the whirling confusion of his brain. He is at least momentarily insane, and the hope of the company is that he will presently fall unconscious or take a sudden notion to go away.

The desire to fight is almost irresistible in his condition, so he takes to annoying the others individually, moving up and down the bar to intrude in other conversations, looking for trouble and scattering insults which, as I say, usually are accepted as of no consequence under the circumstances. My Dear Louise: I think I heard you say, in a voice bitter with disgust and loathing: "Drat that old algebra!" And yet you delight in puzzles that test your wits!

I hope you don't turn out to be one of those simple people who go through life emptying their pockets to fatten every sharper who has a good trick and some knowledge of psychology. But you will, as sure as gun is iron, if you let your imagination fool you. as gun is iron, if you let your imagination fool you.

A few years ago, when go-getters were loose in the land and service was spelled with a capital "S," solvent men with good digestions called work a game. "My game is real estate," one would say. Or, "My game is selling shoes."

"Young intellectuals" of the Mencken school thought it a silly idea and made fun of the men who talked that way, and the expression soon went out of fashion; but, as usual in such cases, the ones who did the went out of fashion; but, as usual in such cases, the ones who did the sneering confessed their own want of understanding.

If the men who called their work a game were sincere, and they usually were, they were much smarter than their critics. They were, in fact, the only men known to history who were too level-headed to be fooled by their own imagination. A small boy watches his dad operate a machine and longs to help. It seems great fun because he can't do it. A few years later, when he is told that he must operate the machine for two hours before he can play ball, he hates the thing and feels abused. The word "must" changes play to work.

That is kid thinking, but many people never outgrow it. They enjoy crossword puzzles and ask-me-another questions and games that try their wit, intelligence and skill; but the business of winning a living, which is the most interesting and most exacting of all games, bores and irritates them because they are forced to play it. They would probably hate golf or bridge if they got $5 a day for it.

Hunting and fishing used to be work; now it is sport because it When you start out to lick the world don't let your imagination spoil

JEWRY HERE BEGINS

Services Held at All Synagogues Marking Pilgrimage Led by Moses.

Passover, the Jewish festival marking the exodus of the Israelites from Egypt 3,429 years ago, began at sundown yesterday and will continue for eight days.

For the millions of Jews throughout the world it marked the beginning of an age-old holiday which commemo-rates the pilgrimage led by Moses through the desert and the beginning of a Jewish nation in Palestine.

Jews in the United States gathered in temples and synagogues last night to begin the festival, featured by the seder service on the first two nights. Services were held in Atlanta last night at the Temple. Ahavith Achim synagogue and Shearith Israel congregation. Special services will be held at the same places today and tomorrow.

Those of the reform faith observe enly seven days, while those of the orthodox belief celebrate eight days. At the family seder the head of the household reads the "Haggadah." a history of the flight from Egypt and comments of the faith's sages.

In Rialto Film Drama

A story of the seal trapping industry in the islands of the Alaskan sea, "North of Nome," starring Jack Holt, began a three-day run at the Rialto theater yesterday.

Holt is a trapper, with Guinn "Big Boy" Williams, his mortal enemy. Williams steals Holt's pelts and leaves him with no recourse to law. Holt estabishes himself on a corporation-owned island and, to foil Williams, destroys the only means of approach, thereby marconing himself.

A ship is wrecked and Holt rescues the owner of the company, his lovely daughter, Evelyn Venable; her wealty fiance, and others. Williams reappears and from this point on the story develops in fast sequence, into a melodrama with a heart-warming romance. Comedy, news reel and short subjects complete the excellent program. Owing to the roadshow engagement, "Lost Horizon," starting Monday, "North of Nome" will be shown for only three days.

MOTHER OF TWO JAILED. Bitter herbs are eaten, in memory of the days in bondage. Unleavened bread, "matzoths." replaces leavened foods, to symbolize the hastily prepared bread, baked on boards in the sun, by the fleeing Israelites. The paschal lamb forms a part of the Passover menu.

only for Passover.

In the synagogues, the holiday liturgies and ceremonials are followed and the history of the flight is read and commented upon.

Passover occurs within the Christians' Easter season, since the latter is determined by a lunar calendar, as are all Jewish holidays.

Tombstone 'Toters'

Stars Carole Lombard
Gay and tuneful are the words for "Swing High, Swing Low," musical starring Fred Mgraklurray and Carole Lombard, which delighted opening-day audiences yesterday at the Fox theater, where it began a week's engagement.

Besides Miss Lombard and MacMurray, the cast includes that rising Hollywoodite, Miss Dorothy Lamour, who made such a hit in her first film,
"The Jungle Princess." She is seen as the other woman in the eternal triand this picture. Others in the splendid supporting cast are Charles Butterworth. Jean Diron, Harfer Stephens and many others.

Lavish production aumbers, grood music and a wellkin plot make the film fine entertainment. Mitchell Leisen, who directed the "Big Broadcast of 1937." deserves credit for his directorial work, while bows must go to the men who composed the music,
the teams of Ralph Rainger and Leo Robin, Sam Coslow and Al Siegel.

"Miss Lombard does a bit of singing, and reveals an appealing voice, while MacMurray plays the trumpet,
You'll enjoy "Swing High, Swing

Boyer and Jean Arthur Teamed at Loew's Grand The screen's newst team of film romancers. Charles Boyer and Jean Arthur, went through their love-making paces in great style yesterday when "History Is Made at Night," opened a week's run at Loew's Grand theater. From the audience reaction yesterday, the team of Boyer and Arthur, should be seen together in the future, for both have what it takes to make a film outstandingly gay and romantic. producer receive not less than 50 per cent of what the consumer pays. "I emphatically disclaim any antagonistic feeling toward any milk dis-tributor.

"I recognize the need of a middle-Renavent and others whose roles help carry the film to the goal of high comedy.

Boyer is seen in a different type of role than heretofore, and one that he plays with skill. Miss Arthur is great as the mannequin in this thrilling and exciting story, authored by Gene Towne and Graham Baker.

Frank Borzage, veteran director who has given the world many outstanding films, wielded the directional megaphone, and deserves applause. The film is packed with human interest touches that aid it greatly.

Climaxing a four-day trial, a Fulton superior court jury yesterday awarded William Ingram, Atlanta businessman, $2,000 for personal damages in a suit filed against the Georgia Power Company. Ingram had sought $150,000.

The plaintiff contended he was injured when the car in which he was riding was struck by a street car traveling in the opposite direction on Peachtree road about 1:30 o'clock in the morning of May 27, 1934. The defense sought to prove the occupants of the automobile had been drinking. A similar suit, filed by Ivan C. Humphries, driver of the car, is pending.

Mrs. Newport, who was not able to attend the exercises because of illness, sent a message to be read to the assemblage, in which she paid tribute to Mr. Howell for his interest in education and his interest, in particular, in the Tenth street school. Mr. Howell and Sam Evins were instrumental in securing the school in 1905, when other members of the board of education doubted the success of the school in that territory when the city limits ended at Fourteenth street, she said. She recalled that Mr. Howell pioneered the public schools in North Atlanta. She said "there was a simple modesty in his success."

YAQUI INDIANS BEGIN EASTER 'DEATH DANCE

'Cristo's' Crucifixion Is Re-

TUCSON, Ariz., March 26,-(P)-Throbbing tom-toms rose to an eerie crescendo today in many a Yaqui Indian village as frenzied natives began their annual Easter "dance of death."
This fantastic finale to the halfpagan, half-Christian rites will end only when participants drop from exhaustion as dawn breaks over the bleak hills of lower Arizona and northern Sonora, Mexico, on Easter Sunday.

Doleful wails of black-clad mourners mingled with derisive howls of "evil spirits" as tribesmen worked up to the climactic pitch of religious fervor that closes their annual re-enactment of the "Christo's" crucifixion.

"Christo's" crucifixion.

With the Biblical story of the crucifixion told them by Catholic padres, the Indians have interwoven their own pagan rites. This may be the last time the Easter story of the Yaquis is enacted here. The tribesmen political exiles from Mexico, have been granted permission to return to their native land.

Major Clark Howell, president and publisher of The Constitution, speaking on behalf of the family of Mr. Howell, said he knew "my father would have been more pleased and more delighted to have this school named for him than any other school in the city, county, state or nation—this school was his 'baby' and of all the schools that could have been mamed for him, this would have been his selection."

"We must produce a supreme court whose views on social and economic matters are more in keeping with the twentieth century," he said.

Court Finds That Accumula tion of Gas Caused School

AUSTIN, Texas, March 26.—(R)—A military court of inquiry reported preliminary findings today on the New London community school explosion which killed 455 March 18.

National guard officers who composed the court recommended to Governor Allred that a state agency be created to supervise erection of public buildings, that the agency have power to enforce protective regulations and that use of malodorants to make escaping gas noticeable be required.

Findings of the court included:

That the explosion resulted from accumulation of gas in the foundation area between the ground and the first floor of the building and probably was ignited by a spark from a "knife switch" on an electric line in an adjacent room.

witch" on an electric line in an adjucent room.

That in January, 1937, the building's gas line, which had maintained a regular pressure of four ounces, and had been connected with a residue line of the Parade Gasoline Company, in which pressure had been irregular, and despite installation of a "regulator" the pressure of gas entering the building and heating appliances had been "considerably greater" than four ounces.

The report said the gas contained in the residue gas pipe line of the Parade Gasoline Company was of a different chemical constituency from that formerly used in the heating equipment and contained certain elements which rendered it more dangerous.

There also was evidence of defects in the construction of the building and the installation of certain appliances which created a danger to the occupants, the report said, but there was no evidence such defects contributed to cause the explosion.

Governor Allred said the report would be turned ever to a committee of the legislature appointed to make

Bee Industry Buzzes With Activity FEDERATION FOUNDER As Spring Shipping Season Opens

Honey-Makers, Packed by the Pound, Move Northward To Begin Work as Fresh Laborers in Nation's $75,000,000 Apiary Business.

By ROBERT POOR.

CORDELE, Ga., March 26.—That busing sound you hear along the railroad tracks has been explained.

It is made by millions of bees being shipped to northern apiaries because it is cheaper to buy bees every spring than to feed them through the long hard winters.

Starting about the first of April and lasting until hot weather, the bee shipping season sees many carloads of the winged, stinged insects shipped from south Georgia, south Alabama, Mississippi and Florida. The average price paid for bees is 85c a pound, except queens, which bring 75 cents each.

used, as it has a harmful effect on the bees. He adds that a medium temperature and proper ventilation are necessary if the bees are to live.

Marshall adds that there has never been an accident to a shipment of bees in his territory. It would not be pleasant to consider the results of such an accident, he concludes.

According to recently published statistics, there are more than a million apiarists in the United States, and apiarian products total over $75,000,000 in value.

MARIETTA, Ga., March 26.—

Cobb officers tonight were searching for Stanley McRae, 30, chain gang trusty, who escaped this morning in a stolen car while the convicts were working on Roswell road several miles from here.

McRae, who only yesterday suffered a broken right arm while cranking an auto, was serving as water boy for the convicts at the time of his escape. He eluded guards and drove away in a small coupe belonging to Fred Rutledge, truck driver, working on the road project. He wore civilian clothes, Commissioner Charles M. Head said.

McRae was transferred to the Cobb gang from Fulton county, where he Manager of Missing Braddock Waits for Mess To Be Cleared.

NEW YORK, March 26 .- (P)-Joe Gould, manager of the missing heavyweight champion, James J. Braddock, today tossed fresh confu-Braddeck, today tossed fresh confusion into the preposterous heavyweight situation by declaring he will monoliticians. Until the Chiengo situation is cleared up and I know that the $10 top is out, I ain't gona budge."

Lounging on a large green divan in his midtown hotel, Gould, who has been "missing" himself for three days, laughed at questions about Champion Braddock's whereaboutse. Madison Square Garden, holding a contract with Braddock to meet Max Schmeling, of Germany, in New York, June 3, last Monday tried to bring Braddock into a Miani (Fla.) court to explain why he should not keep this contract before considering the Louis hout. But papers were not served and Braddock vanished.

Gould later declared Braddock was on his way to Chicago, but Joe Foley, momoter of the proposed Louis Braddock light, declared today the champion had not arrived. Furthermore, Foley suspected both Gould and Braddock had fled to Germany to close a deal to fight Schmeling there.

"I ain't tellin' where Jim is," continued his manager. "If I tell you, Madison Square Garden, will clap papers on him like that."

Gould at the moment claims to be convinced Chicago in general and the Illinois senate and Mayor Kelly, of the gate for rentil Soldier field?" he asked. "And why didn't Mayor Kelly, attend the signin' when Louis and Braddock fight.

"If they want it, why did that senate out there we also to the fight?"

Without expecting an explanati Joe answered himself.

"I'l tell you, because they don't won't the fight?"

Yeth little Joe believes all complications may clear up within a week. "It things don't clear up out there, we always have the German offer." he said. The German offer was one of $550,000 to Braddock, tax free, to meet Schmeling in Berlin this summer, but it was withdrawn last Tuesday.

"There's lots of places we can put on this fight," Gould continued. This fight," Gould continued. This fight, Gould continued. This fight, Gould continued. This fight, Gould continued. "There's lots of places we can put on this fight," Gould continued. "Philadelphia would love to have is, and so would Cleveland and Detroit. Yeah, and if we don't straighten it out, we may go around the world. Jim's been off now for two years and he can stay off for another."

FOUR SWINGERS.

There will be four swingers out there at East Lake Sunday afternoon-or rather three hitters and one swinger.

Dorothy Kirby, who is developing slowly but surely under the watchful eye of Grandfather Beckett, will be the best swinger of the lot when she and Patty Berg play Babe Dirikson and

The others, especially Helen Hicks and Babe Didrikson, are hitters. And the Babe, it might be said, is a slugger. They will offer four distinct types of golf.

It may happen that Atlanta is going to produce a real champion in Dorothy Kirby. And will do it without the long grind of winter tournaments. Tournament play is necessary. But whether or not the long grind of the winter schedule is entirely beneficial is a moot question. If Dorothy Kirby could have had three tournaments in Florida, they materially would have

But even so, she is coming along. And she is unspoiled and still herself. Which she might not have been had she been tossed into the tournament hopper. There are values and values.

At any rate, this Sunday golf match at East Lake is going to be an attraction which should have the golf nuts trampling o'er George Sargent's fairways in large numbers.

FIVE CONCEDED CHANCE TO WIN: CARDS FAVOREI

Reds Are Longshots; Cards, Cubs, Giants, Pirates Look Good.

By Eddie Brietz.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

Another wide-open, free-for-all pennant scrap is forecast in the Na-nant scrap is forecast in the National league this season.

Five teams are conceded a chance for the flag. The St. Louis Cardinals are the early favorites with Chicago, New York and Pittsburgh listed as chief threats, in that order. The young but husfling Cincinnati Reds are good long shot bets to crash the first division.

The big surprise of the "spring line," as doped out by baseball men who-have followed the clubs throughout the training grind, is that so few like the chances of the Champion Giants to repeat their triumpli of last year.

"They had to have a miracle to win last time and they got it," said one veteran manager. "They'll need another miracle for them to come through again and they won't, get it. Miracles don't happen along two years in a row."

TOP FLIGHT UNCERTAIN.

TOP FLIGHT UNCERTAIN.

The finish in the top flight is dotted with uncertainties, but how the rest of the field will fare already is pretty well established.

The Boston Bees figure neither better nor worse than the sixth place berth they occupied last year. Brooklyn apparently has taken another summer's lease on seventh, with the hapless Phillies again consigned to the cold, dank atmosphere of the cellar.

Those who like the chances of the St. Louis gas house gang think improved pitching (if he gets it) plus added speed afield and on the bases and the old Cardinal scrap will give Frankie Frisch's followers an edge on the Cubs, Pirates and Giants.

Much depends on the comeback of Paul Dean. If the younger of the pitching brothers, who injured his arm last season, recovers his effectiveness and can take his regular turn on the mound with Dizzy and Lon Warneke, former Cub ace, the Cards will have a fighting corps unsurpassed in either major.

GREEN INFIELD.

GREEN INFIELD.

On the other hand, the club may be handicapped by a virtually green infield and inexperienced catching.

The Cubs look stronger offensively and defensively with Jim (Ripper) Collins from the Cardinals on first base and Joe Marty, a slugging outfielder who hit .359 in the Pacific coast league, but many think the loss of the strapping Warneke may cost the club 15 victories.

The Giants will have fifst class pitching and a good defense, but need punch. It remains to be seen whether Hank Leiber can supply enough wallop to make up for what the club lacked last season and for what they'll lose this year with the retirement of Manager Bill Terry as a player.

At Pittsburgh, Manager Pie Traynor will stake his chances on the same seasoned outfit that was a headache to every club except the Giant's last year, and he thinks the addition of southpaw Ed Brandt from Brooklyn will enable the Corsairs to make more trouble for the Giants.

PAUL WANKER STILL OUT.

will enable the Corsairs to make more trouble for the Giants.

PAUL WANER STILL OUT.

Outfielder Paul Waner, who led the league in batting, hasn't reported, but his holdout troubles are expected to be adjusted before the clubs toe the line on April 20.

First and third bases are problems.

Cincinnati shapes up as the surprise club. Charlie Dressen's youngsters are more experienced, can count on tighter pitching and are set to go places if Phil Weintraub can add the needed Phil Weintrain can add the needed power. Give them an opening and the Reds are set to breeze past any first division club that shows signs of faltering.

The Bees bank mainly on seasoned pricehing from a group of veterns.

The Bees bank mainly on seasoned pitching from a group of veterans from the country's AA and A leagues, plus the hitting power of Vince Di-Maggio, brother of Joe, of New York Yankee fame.

Burleigh Grimes, making his big league managerial debut at the Brooklyn helm, has patched up his Dodgers in spots, but except for hustle and a better defensive infield, the club shapes up about the same as the one better defensive infield, the club shapes up about the same as the one Grimes fell heir to. The Phillies promise to be about as disappointing as ever. The pitching may be a bit better, but the remainder of the club is too green to emerge from last place without the aid of an upset of man-sized proportions.

LARGEST HELD IN SOUTHLAND 250 Duckpin Hopefuls

ONE-DAY EVENT

Will Compete for Attractive Awards.

One hundred and twenty-five pairs of bowlers are signed for the fifth annual Atlanta Constitution doubles duckpin tournament scheduled to be rolled this afternoon and evening on the downtown alleys, with the first shift of bowlers due to begin their games at 12 o'clock (noon) and a number of other bowlers scheduled to file their entries this morning before the event gets under way. This mark sets a new all-time record for number of entries.

In addition to the noon hour bowling time, the five games that are scheduled may be bowled at either 2 or 5 o'clock in the afternoon or at 7:30 o'clock in the evening and a good entry list is expected to be registered at each of the four designated times. The old tournament temperature is running high on all sides.

The 125 couples that are signed for the meet top last year's record of 115 teams by a full 10 pair of bowlers. That is, 250 men and women are already signed to bowl today, making the largest total number of bowlers to roll in a one-day tournament at any time on the Atlanta alleys and, in so far as the records reveal, it is an all-time record for all alleys and, in so far as the records reveal, it is an all-time record for all alleys in the south for a one-day pin meet for number of bowlers participating.

Every bowler in the state of Georgia is eligible to compete in this contest which is rated as the most popular doubles event of the year for the Atlanta alleys. It's popularity is shown by the fact that the entry list increases considerably each year.

DALLAS ENTRANTS.

Three teams of bowlers from Dallas, Ga., will be scheduled to roll their games in the late shift at 7:30 o'clock. The entries are M. L. and Jack Rabb, Wade-Palmer and Watson-Foster.

Separate events are scheduled for men and women, with handicaps that assure all entrants an equal opportunity of winning.

Bowlers from every league in the city will be represented in the competition as they vie for the titles, gold medals, opening day baseball tickets and other awards that will be presented to the

PANAMA CITY, Fla., March 26.—
When the time comes this summer that the Crackers need some firstclass pinch-hitting, they could do worse than send Bill Beckman, righthanded pitcher, up to bat.

Beckman is one of those dual personalities of the diamond. He can pitch and he can hit. In fact, Knoxville used him as a pinch hitter a number of times last season.

Beckman, who appeared in 47 ball games, hit .261 last summer. Among the league pitchers, he was topped only by Clyde Shoun, of Birmingham, who was in 14 less ball games and hit .289.

A pitcher who can hit is always a great asset to any ball club. Beckman is one of those pitchers.

LINDSEY WAS TOPS.

Jim Lindsey's batting average topped all Atlanta pitchers last season.
Appearing in 33 games, Lindsey hit 196. Al Williams, who bet Lindsey that he would outhit him, trailed by three percentage points. three percentage points.

Lindsey showed the boys something in the matter of strikeouts. In 139 innings pitched, he struck out 80 bats-

Another rainy day gave the players their second off-day of the spring camp today. It was a good time for looking over the averages.

And it was brought out that the official figures are wrong on Emil Mailho, who hit .318 not .333 last the summer.

Paul Richards led the Atlanta club in hitting last year with a mark of Disappointed by the weak hitting of his Cincinnati Reds in recent exhibition games, Manager Charles Dressen instructed his pitchers today to put everything they had on the ball.

The Red batters were attacked with curves, knuckles balls, change of pace and a variety of pitching fundamentals for an hour and a half.

Dressen assigned Paul Derringer and Gene Schott to pitch against the Phillies tomorrow.

Luttrell, added another victory to his string of wrestling triumphs last night by tossing George Hagen, the ex-marine matman, in the feature bout of Frank Speer's weekly shows.

The Texas tornado resorted to many methods, mostly illegal, to gain his triumph.

Luttrell took the first fall after 17 minutes of vicious slugging, finally tossing his opponent with a backdrop after bombarding him with fists and rubbing a taped wrist across the none-too-handsome profile of the marine.

Determined to down the tough man by some means or other, Hagen re-turned quickly after intermission and after three minutes of bouncing the Texah from rope to rope, applied his famed Indian death lock to square the bout.

famed Indian death lock to square the bout.

The third fall ended after 12 minntes of riotous action. Hagen once more applied his famed hold, but Luttrell maneuvered himself to the ropes, forcing the leatherneck to break the hold. Then the action started. Both stood in the center of the ring slugging toe to toe, but the heavier cowboy finally planted a hard blow to Hagen's midsection that ended the bout. Luttrell pounced upon his prey and there was nothing for Frank Speer, who refereed the main bout, to do but award Luttrell the bout, much to the fans' protests.

No New Major Legislation Has Been Enacted, Survey Shows.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(UP) The 81-day-old 75th congress—streamlined to cope with modern legislative needs—is wneezing along at a far slower pace than any of its "lame duck" predecessors of recent years, a survey showed tonight.

showed tonight.

No new major legislation has been enacted yet and nope is in prospect in the near future. The number of senators who fail to answer quorum calls because they are detained "on important business' has grown with the arrival of spring weather. Congressmen don't have to explain their absence.

men don't have to explain their absence.

Both houses began work with a vim in January and quickly whirled to passage a series of President Roosevelt's 'should'' (he doesn't like the word "must' applied in this manner) bills. They extended the reciprocal trade treaty act, the life of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the dollar devaluation authority and $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund.

Long Rest Period

Then began the rest period that has continued with few interruptions until today—when both houses were in recess until Monday.

There are few committees meeting and those that have met have produced little or nothing in the way of legislation that Mr. Roosevelt had indicated he wants at this session. Part of this inactivity is traceable to the administration itself.

For example, the chief executive asked for a legislative program to aid farm tenants. Government officials can't agree on the method to be followed and the plan is bogged down in the house agriculture committee. Also, Mr. Roosevelt insisted in his budget message that the so-called "nuisance" taxes which yield $500,000,000 a year be extended.

message that the so-called "nuisance" taxes which yield $500,000,000 a year be extended.

The house ways and means committee hasn't done anything about it because treasury officials, concerned about indications that income tax returns will be $100,000,000 below their estimates, suggested that action of any taxes be deferred temporarily.

Await NRA Substitute.

The President has indicated he will send to congress an outline of legislation which he feels is essential to obtain the social objectives of the invalidated NRA, including maximum hours and minimum wages. The house labor committee is marking time on other minor bills until the chief executive finishes his program.

Only three appropriation bills have been approved by both houses and only one has gone to the White House for the President's signature. Last year at this time a lameduck congress had passed six appropriation bills of which two had been signed by Mr. Roosevelt and two were in conference.

Overshadowing all current issues as the topic of long and bitter debate in both houses, are Mr. Roosevelt and the United States supreme court and the scale judiciary committee will resume hearings Monday on the court plan.

Both Husband and Wife May Claim $3,500 Relief. Jurists Decide.

The Georgia supreme court, reversing itself yesterday, held a husband and wife living together are both entitled to a $3,500 exemption under the 1931 state income tax law.

M. M. Sims, director of the state income tax division, said under this decision married taxpayers who filed separate returns could claim the double exemption as far back as 1934. He said the statute of limitations would prevent glaims prior to that year.

Sims said he would not "attempt to estimate" the amount of refunds for which the state might be liable. The case on which the supreme court ruled was brought by Mrs. Morris Brandon, of Atlanta.

In 1932 the state revenue commission declined to allow Mrs. Brandon the exemption of $5,500 silowed married persons living together on the grounds her husband had also claimed it in his return.

Lasky Not Worried About Television

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 26.

(A)—Television, says Film Producer Jesse Lasky, may be just around the corner, but there's a long road to be traveled before anyone gets to it. The pieneer moviemaker listed three major difficulties:

1. The gregarious instinct that sends people to theaters.

2. The unsuitability of radio stars for filming.

3. The nerve-strain that would be necessitated by heavy concentration on a comparatively small screen.

"Understand, I'm convinced television is coming," the producer said, "but it won't come soon enough for any of us to worry about."

the exemption of $5,500 allowed married persons living together on the grounds her husband had also claimed it in his return.

A Fulton county superior court held against her, but she was upfield by a court of appeals decision which in turn was reversed by the supreme court. The supreme court later granted a rehearing, and yesterday reversed itself.

The income tax law passed by the recent session of the general assembly specifically disallows a double exemption. The Governor has not yet signed the bill.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: During the most of our married life, I have worked steadily until two years ago when my firm went bloocy. Since that my husband's chief pleasure seems to be in finding fault with me. He is always throwing up my weight, telling me I am too fat to be seen on the street and it has reached the point that my little girl and I stay at home while he gads about. Now I am short and overweight but I can't see that this is any reason for my hiding out, Lately he has been yelling at me to go back to work and help him pay the bills, I really don't mind working but refusing is the only way I have to get back at him with revenge. What would you do if you were in my place? DISCOURAGED.

However fair and fine he may appear in the living room with his best girl he is neither fair nor fine if he makes his living out of crooked business. Sooner or later everybody he loves and is associated with will suffer with him. Somebody has said that honesty is not merely the best business policy but it is the only policy that will permit a business to survive. A girl married to a man who is engaged in illegal line of work must live in awful suspense of his being found out and punished. She has a sword hanging over her head, night and day, and she's always expecting it to fall and decapitate her. MARE DAINTEST OF DRESS OF STYLES IN ONLY A BRIEF TIME Pattern 4354.

Could anything be more appropriate for that all-important party you've been looking forward to, than this bewitching Lillian Mae dress-up style? Fluttering sleeves may swing free, or be caught by a trim little cuff, while the fetching off-shoulder yoke terminates in a simple neckline that's accented by a trio of delicate flowers. A feast for the eyes—this frock, and one that's irresistible in soft, colorful triple shere, chiffon (either printed or plain), or a dainty crepe! If you've been needing a delightful style for your festive events, but are hesitant about your sewing ability—send for pattern 4354 and you'll be amazed to see how easily and quickly they may be fitted together.

Pattern 4354 is available in sizes 14.

Well, Have You Read The Constitution?

President Roosevelt in his "fireside chat" over the radio said he thought every citizen of the United States ought to re-read the constitution of the United States to see what it actually says.

Probably you haven't looked at the text of the fundamental law of the land since school days.

Our Washington Service Bureau has a 24-page booklet ready for you, which not only gives the complete text of the constitution and all amendments but gives a history of how the document was made, who its makers were, who signed it, and the history of its adoption and the proposal and adoption of each of the amendments.

One of the most important debates in the history of the United States is that now going on in relation to the President's proposal for a new judiciary law. The constitution of the United States is being discussed and analyzed as perhaps never before since its original adoption.

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

EXERCISE IS A NECESSITY.

Neither the businesswoman nor the housewife can keep her figure unless she plans for exercise. Housework misses most of the figure-controlling muscles, but office work misses all of them. Yet, on the average, the businesswoman keeps in better trim than the housewife because she realizes the need of exercise.

You are wrong if you think housework affords all the exercise you should have. There is no denying that this wilson is the slim, wiry type and simply eats up work.

High pressure businesswomen who use vast amounts of nervous energy rarely need to diet, but they exercise for their figures and as a balance for a high nervous energy expenditure. Whether or not the housewife needs to diet depends upon her food habits, but specific exercises should supplement housework.

Disnwasning burns few calories; walking is better.

housework, but, as exercise, it is only housework, but, as exercise, it is only a halfway measure. In the lighter tasks, the small muscles of the body—hands, arms, feet and legs—get the most use. These small muscles are relatively unimportant to the contour of the figure. There are household tasks that give you plenty of exercise and still miss the muscles of the abdomen hims and thicks. For this rea-

Moderate use of the large muscles of the trunk and hips takes more calories and therefore is better exercise than the most intense use of the small than the most intense use of the small muscles. For example, you burn more calories in the slowest walking, per hour, than in dishwashing—and the good to your figure is far greater.

At housework you can use from 2,000 to 2,600 calories per day, depending upon the type of work you do.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT
Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest word on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily installments.

RESPONSES TO A FORCING TAKE-OUT.

TAKE-OUT.

When the response is a jump suit take-out, which is forcing to game, the opener has only to look at his hand and choose any available rebid in the following order:

1. With a second biddable suit, he should bid the new suit.

2. Lacking a second biddable suit, but with a rebiddable suit, he should rebid his suit.

3. With adequate trump support for responder's suit, he should raise.

4. With very strong support for partner's suit, the opener now may make a jump asking bid or try for a slam with a conventional four notrump bid.

5. Lacking any of these requirements, the opener should respond with the minimum number of notrump necessary, the minimum notrump bid being in this case, as in almost all cases, a negative bid.

TODAY'S HAND.

North, dealer.

East-West vulnerable.

The bidding: North East 1 spade Pass 3 spades 3 clubs Pass 4 hearts 1 spade 3 hearts

"Dear Mr. Culbertson:
"The opening lead of the spade jack was taken by declarer with the ace. The heart king was played, and dummy entered with the spade king. A low heart then was led, and West played low, the ten being finessed by declarer, East showing out. West led the heart queen, which declarer took with the ace, and another heart was led to put West back in with the jack. West at this point must lead a diamond which East takes with the ace, returning a spade. The spade return is ruffed with declarer's last heart, a diamond led to the king in dummy, and on the return a club is led through West's 10-6 to declarer's J-9.

"Since this hand is a type which often occurs, and on which the unwary declarer is in a great deal of trouble, I believe that it might serve as the object hand in one of your articles.

"Yours very truly,

"Yours very truly,
"C. A. L., Washington, D. C."
The declarer's handling of the The declarer's handling of the trump suit was the real crux of the hand. East's nine dropping on the first trump lead warned declarer that the suit might break badly, and his precaution in entering dummy and precaution in entering dummy and finessing up to his own hand was well calculated. The club situation also was well handled, but this was the natural development of the previous line of play. This was a hand calling for generally good technique rather than one involving any specific type of play.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: I opened the bidding with one spade and partner responded with two clubs. What is my correct rebid on the following:

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Thursday.—After the lecture last night, we had a delightful party at Governor White's house, where two negro colleges brought some of their singers to entertain us. for the President at Warm Springs, and they wanted to be in on some of the entertainments.

The next group came from Jackson College. Both groups sang very well. I've certainly had an opportunity in the past few days to compare the various ways of singing "Swing Low, Sweet Charlot," because every group I have heard, sing has sung it. It must be a favorite spiritual, and it certainly is one of those I like best.

This morning we did a good bit of work on the train. The only interruptions were two Chattanooga newspaper reporters and where I had to go out and great groups of people at one or two stations gathered had to go out and greet groups of people at one or two stations gathered for a glimpse of "The President's Wife" as the train went through.

When I last came to Knoxville without the President, I was driving my own car and I skirted the city by a roundabout road, but today I have been quite official, and everyone has been most cordial in welcome. I went out at once to visit one of the women's WPA projects—their main

I received a wire on the train telling me that the women would work an hour longer today in the hope that I would visit them. It is a good sewing room, and judging from the exhibition of work, they must be turning out really skilled workers. In the negro workers' room I asked those who felt they had improved their skill in sewing to hold up their hands and fully three fourths of these researchides. hands, and fully three-fourths of those present did so.

They have comparatively few women doing handwork, but some of the baby things are as finely done as one could wish. I feel sure the woman made the little dress with fine tucks and feather stitching which I examined could make a living at that kind of work. There are always enough in any city who appreciate handwork and are willing to pay for it, especially on children's clothes and underclothes.

The NYA projects which I visited here, a library project for negro youth, a Jewish community center, a playground and a hospital project, all were interesting. The regular workers on these projects have been very helpful in giving their co-operation to train the young NYA supervisors for a variety of recreatonal work. Tennessee has a big NYA program and I gather they are doing successful enough work to impress the communities with the need for a continuation of their services.

Back at my hotel room I met a little girl who had come 400 miles by bus to see me, and a girl who wove a piece of material and sent it to me some time ago. I was also presented with a really nicely made child's chair made in one of the NYA shops.

Now we must get ready for tonight's lecture and after it we start for Washington.

NANCY PAGE

This Dressing Room-Closet Has Everything

By FLORENCE La GANKE. When evening dresses and wraps were short, the problem of putting them away in clothes closets was simple. The pole which stretched across the width of the closet and which was usually put below the shelf for hats was still high enough so that dresses on hangers did not trail on the ground. But that cannot be used with the present party clothes, not the house dresses or hostess gowns that reach to the floor.

For these some other arrangement must be made. Nancy saw a scheme when she was visiting in New York that seemed especially good.

A bedroom had a fairly good sized closet opening from it. The bedroom was small and the woman who lived in the house wanted to use the closet for a dressing room so as to give her more space in the bedroom.

She hunted around to see whether there were narrow dressing tables. Even the kidney-shaped ones were too wide. But she found an inexpensive set of drawers, really a shoe and stocking chest.

chest.

She put this along one wall, hung a mirror over it. So far so good.

Then she had the shelf which had reached clear across her closet cut

A curtain on rings slipped easily on the small rod concealed by the scalloped wooden shelf edging. When she was using the room for a dressing room it was easy to pull the curtain and protect the clothes.

She was quite pleased with her arrangement. So was Nancy and said she was going to have Peter fix something like that for her.

A LITTLE SATURDAY TALK.

A reader has asked me to tell about some of the world's great bells, and think the day before Easter is a good time to do so. On Easter the bell rings "loud and long."

In Russia two centuries ago. It is known as the Great Bell of Moscow, and weighs 193 tons. It seems never to have been rung, for a great chunk was broken from it either at the time of casting or when being raised to position.

I think the day before Easter is a good time to do so. On Easter the bell rings "loud and long."

The most famous American bell is Liberty Bell, which is kept in Independence hall, Philadelphia. It is a sight to see, but it does not ring anymore. In 1835 it was cracked while tolling during the funeral of Chief Justice John Marshall. Since then it has been on display, at world's fairs as well as in Philadelphia.

Liberty Bell was first cast in England, back in the year 1752, but it was broken when it was being rung in Philadelphia a year later. Then it was recast from the same metal. It weighs six and a half tons.

After the Franco-Prussian war, the Germans melted 22 captured French cannon and the metal was cast into a 27-ton bell for the Cologne cathedral. That was better use for the metal, but the Germans spoiled the deed during the World War by melting the metal again—for bullets and cannon balls.

The Chinese have cast bells of mighty size. One of them, in Nanking.

Jane found no game, she returned presently with a plentiful supply of edible wild fruits. Then, under her guidance, the camp began to take shape. Rough shelters were quickly laid out, and zan himself, showed them how to make the fruit

It was dark when all the work was done; then the travelers felt they could take their ease before the fire. Jane, who had been taught jungle lore by Tarsoon Jane's expert hand set a bright fire roaring. more palatable by roasting it on the end of a stick.

The food restored the flagging spirits of the whole party. But they would not have been so cheerful had they known that from behind the concealing of a near-by tree, a pair of eyes looked out upon them-mysterious eyes-eyes eager and sav-

... By a strange coincidence—or was it some odd phenomenon of telepathy?—a shocking thought flashed through Tarzan's mind. Suppose Jane's plane had landed in the territory of the savage Kavuru, who kidnaped women for their own mysterious and proposes? terious purposes?

Market Outlook

By MAX BUCKINGHAM.

By MAX BUCKINGHAM.

(Convight 1937, by fluited Irrea.)

NEW YORK, March 26.—(UP)—

Wall street optimism has been held in check by the spread of air-down atrikes but the underlying feeling prevails that business—and consequently security and commodity prices—is headed into much higher levels.

The high rate of steel production, under a demand that is taxing production-facilities, plus other industrial operations that approach or equal the 1929 level, are the business factors behind this. In addition commodity prices slowly are approaching the 1926—or normal—level.

In connection with this, Lawrence Dennis, economist for E. A. Pierce & Company one of the major brokerage Dennis, economist for E. A. Pierce & Company, one of the major brokerage houses in the nation, points out that "we have the potential demand and the potential money or credit supply for the greatest boom of history in capital or durable goods and in consumers, goods, and it is difficult to see how we can avoid it, if the demands of Mars, labor and agriculture continue, as in the recent past, to recombine as in the recent p of Mars, labor and agriculture continue, as in the recent past, to receive practically unlimited political (Sataurday, March 28, 1936); High, 68; low 50; rain.

He termed this the third great boom since 1914 and pointed out that an upward price movement "has never than the state of that it had gone far enough."
"The demands of national defense,

The demands of hartenar detense, labor and agriculture, which now are brooking no denials, must mean increased demand for both consumer and durable goods. Such increase in dedurable goods. Such increase in demand, coming as it is, rapidly, explosively and imperatively, must drive prices up because a normal or probable expansion of supply cannot keep up with this type of demand for higher wages, shorter hours and higher farm prices. But the demand will not relax because of a lack of money. This type of demand uses political control of public credit and the banking system to obtain money, regardless of future inflationary consequences," Dennis said.

He believed that this boom has not heen a natural or automatic recovery. It differs not only from the commodity boom of the war and the stock boom of the twenties in that it is a boom in both commodities and stocks, but it also differs because this is a politically generated boom.
"In the present recovery, govern-ment has subsidized agricultural scar-ment has subsidized agricultural scar-city and at the same time, supported with considerable success the demand of labor for a larger money wage for a smaller output. In addition the government has spent some 15 billion dollars in excess of revenues. These governmental policies were adopted and followed with the purpose of raising prices.

sing prices.
"To these policies, and not to spec-To these policies, and not to spec-ulation, must be given credit for most of the price rise to date. But it must not be expected, in a free economy, that speculation will not eventually take cognizance of such policies and take cognizance of such policies and their inevitable consequences, pricewise. The fact that the present world-wide recovery has been so largely induced and is being so considerably sustained by political and artificial stimulants is no reason for expecting an early collapse. On the contrary, it would seem probable that the more political the dynamics of the boom are, the greater will be its magnitude and duration. Politics certainly commands great resources for tainly commands great resources for postponing readjustments and collapse.

"Prices have now about recovered the 1930 level. Further advances will take us into boom altitudes."

KANSAS WILL GET
LEGAL BEER IN MAY
TOPEKA, Kas., March 26.—(AP)—
The thirsty residents of the state where Carrie A. Nation smashed saloon bars with her hatchet smacked lins today, expecting legal beer by May.

A flourish of Governor Walter A. Huxman's pen—and he intends to sign—will permit sale of "three-pointsign—will permit sale of "three-pointtwo" in the first step Kansas has taken away from a strictly prohibition policy since it gained the name of "bone dry" 57 years ago.

In reality, beer already is on sale in some cities of Kansas. Dispensers got busy after Missouri and other neighboring states threatened to lure dollars of the thirsty across the line.
Attempts to preserute Kansans failed.

Attempts to prosecute Kansans failed when juries refused to rule the heer when juries refused to rule the heer intoxicating. So Kansas had beer but no beer revenue.

Now an accompanying regulatory measure provides for beer licenses ranging from $25 to $100. A pending proposal to tax beer 5 cents a gallon will, estimates the legislative council's research department, yield $920,000 a year.

Nun Again Bleeds On Good Friday

COSENZA, Italy, March 26.—
(UP)—Sister Elena Aiello, a Roman Catholic nun, lay on her small iron bed in Cosenza orphanage tonight with blood streaming from her forehead while physicians and priests marvelled at the phenomenon which they said has occurred every Good Friday for 13 years.

The bleeding, they said, was like that of Christ when the crown of thorns was pressed to his brow on the day of the crucifixion that Good Friday commenorates.

the day of the crucifixion that Good Friday commeniorates.

The group, most of whom were convinced they were witnessing one of the greatest religious miracles of the age, made no effort to halt the bleeding.

They expected her to return to normal physical condition tomorrow, as on other occasions.

BY U. S. IS DEMANDED TO END SIT-DOWNS

President Emeritus of Harvard Views Wave as 'Armed Insurrection.'

WASHINGTON, March 26 .- (A)demand for immediate federal ac ion to end sit-down strikes came tonight from A. Lawrence Lowell, president emeritus of Harvard University.

In a telegram to the senate and Vice President Gagner, Lowell and a group of other prominent Bostonians declared that "a few words of counsel" by the President several weeks ago would have ended what now "challenges the supremacy of the government itself."

to maintenance of the project when accomplished.

the federal government nor the states can deal with labor problems."

Courses of action suggested since the strike wave began include:

1. A request by Secretary Perkins

"Armed Insurrection." The message said: "Armed insurrection—defiance of law, order and duly elected authority—is spreading like wildfire.

"It is rapidly growing beyond control. What determined action by the Governor of Michigan several weeks ago, or a few words of counsel by the President, would have ended summarily, now challenges the supremacy of government itself."

2. A Senator
like th might be ference.
Asi

Signers included Paul E. Fitzpatrick, Edmund W. Longley, M. L. Madden, James L. Richards, Bernard J. Rothwell and Dr. David D. Schannell. They considered no question of the right of labor to "liberal wage and healthful working conditions" is involved.

Meet on Issue Today.

Proposals for federal action already had piled high in anticipation of tomorrow's discussion by the President, Garner, Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader; Speaker Bankhead and House Floor Leader Rayburn.

Robinson previously had declared that he did not see much that the government could do "because the (supreme) court has held that neither and imprisonment.

5. A demand by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, that monopolies be broken up to end what he called the cause of the sit-downs.

6. Legislation suggested by the Nacional Association of Manufacturers to ban strikes, or lockouts, while a presidential commission investigated to the issues involved.

7. A congressional investigation suggested by Representative Dies to determine who inspired the strikes,

Hartsfield To Help Beautify Peachtree

Mayor Hartsfield yesterday joined in the movement to beautify Peachtree street inside the city limits as a part of the program of beautification of Peachtree road.

He told Mrs. Edward F. Daniel Jr. and Mrs. Neil Conrad, members of a committee of the Planters' Garden Club division of the Peachtree roadside beautification program, he would lend his efforts toward obtaining WPA labor for clearing and planting spaces between sidewalks and streets within the city limits.

Progress in beautification of Peachtree road is being made rapidly, the women reported. They conferred also with George I. Simons, city parks manager, relative to maintenance of the project when accomplished.

Courses of action suggested since the strike wave began include:

1. A request by Secretary Perkins that congress empower her to inves-tigate the causes of strikes, publish her finds and recommend terms for settlement. Congress has taken no settlement.

action on this.

2. A federal mediation system.
Senator Robinson said "something like the railway mediation board" might be discussed at tomorrow's con-

TWO ARE ACQUITTED IN BLOWING OF SAFE

Lewis and Fred Head, on trial for lowing the safe at the General Motors Acceptance Corporation and taking $1,701, were found not guilty by a Fulton superior court jury late yesterday afternoon. Jessie Lee Thompson, third man on the indictment, is yet to be tried.

yet to be tried.

Thompson signed a confession shortly after his arrest, the state contended, and before taking the stand admitted in the presence of Assistant Solicitor E. E. Andrews and others that the three committed the burglaries, the prosecutor said. Later, when put on the stand, Thompson denied talking with the solicitor and claimed he signed the confession under threats.

Andrews announced last night he will seek an indictment against Thompson for perjury. will seek an indict Thompson for perjury.
